

Panel Discussion Topics

Sign up for one of the following topics. Dates TBA.

Name	Topic
	Changing demographics threaten the ability of the Republican Party to win elections.
	Interest groups, PACs, and 527s have too much clout in shaping public policy.
	The Supreme Court is unduly influenced by politics.
	Congress is an ineffective check on the president's power in the area of foreign affairs.
	The U.S. should adopt a parliamentary system in order to create a more efficient policymaking process.
	Affirmative action programs are necessary to safeguard equal opportunity in both education and employment for minorities.
	The Welfare Reform Act effectively moved people from government assistance to self-sufficiency.
	Proposals to require voter identification are an attempt to prevent fraud at the polls, rather than an effort to suppress voter turnout.